Two 3 hour sessions per day

Wednesday, July 29th

Joan Cech leads 2 sessions. Clay for the Day!

9 am - working with clay, learning various hand building techniques to create functional pottery.

1 pm - As the pottery begins to dry, students will learn various techniques to add texture and design. One option includes applying an underglaze, and sgraffito, where a design or pattern is scratched into the surface. Once all pieces have completely dried, the pottery will be fired in a kiln, and the student's work will be available to pick up at an agreed upon date. All finished pieces will be dinnerware safe..

Thursday, July 30th

9 am -Katerina Reimers will teach this new creative session. By layering a variety of different papers and cardboards, create a 3D self-portrait. Learn how to use perspective & shapes to cut out and position each cardboard layer. This challenging project will allow students to incorporate their creativity and style into a cardboard representation of themselves. Katerina will also assist at all sessions.

1 pm: Angie Frier will teach how to create things in polymer clay such as charms, bookmarks, or other trinkets to create unique items that can be taken home that day or Friday. Iris Prochaska will co-teach.

Friday, July 31st:

9 am -Gabrielle Comte will teach book binding with a format that will allow for more than one binding technique. This introduction to the tools and skills used for basic bookbinding will include creation of an accordion fold book inspired by found object artist and collector of life "evidence", Candy Jernigan.

1 pm - Katerina Reimers Students will learn new and exciting watercolor and collaging techniques to create a bundle of homemade greeting cards for any occasion. Gabrielle will assist Wed-Fri.
